Opener: Siân Kelly

Singer/songwriter Siân Kelly has been creating music for the past few years under her artist name Holocene. This past Valentine's Day, Holocene was joined by Jas Kayser, and Ava Joseph for a special concert at World Heart Beat. For tonight, rock n' roll takes a back seat as Siân brings a solo acoustic performance of new material, and selected covers from some of her favourite artists.

Audience can expect big vocals, poetic lyricism, and stripped-back acoustic guitar.

The 286

"...The 286 is a group of musicians almost unique in today's world, not afraid to mix and juggle the genres; the music flows like wine but is as satisfying as the finest 40 year old malt whisky..."

Ian D. Hall, Liverpool Sound and Vision

The 286 is the type of band you wished you had the chance to join. The way they blend musical genres shows real fearlessness and genuine respect for music, giving them a sense of authenticity and truth that few bands can claim. This allows their music to take on something fresh, and provides audiences with sounds that awaken the soul. Classical and rock music are not strange bedfellows; they're intertwined, and The 286 are proving to be masters at exploring this relationship, creating unforgettable music and community along the way.

ABOUT WORLD HEART BEAT

World Heart Beat is a community where music makes a difference. Founded by Sahana Gero, MBE in 2009 it comprises a music academy, concert hall, recording studios, and café.

As a cultural destination, World Heart Beat at Embassy Gardens bridges cultures and generations through music, celebrating global diversity while providing a platform for great and emerging artists as well as uplifting humanity. We foster musical innovation, global collaboration, and hands-on learning in live sound and audio production, and opening doors for young people in the music industry.

OUR CHARITY

The charity's music academy began with just 70 students being taught in a converted warehouse space at Kimber Road in Southfields, Wandsworth. Bursting at the seams with over 320 students, we are delighted to now have a second music education centre in Embassy Gardens, Nine Elms, Battersea.

World Heart Beat transforms the lives of children and young people, offering an equality of opportunity to all, providing equality of access through the removal of financial barriers to all, and giving a voice to those who are underrepresented. We need your support to ensure opportunities for more young people to access music education, and gain confidence and skills.

UPCOMING SHOWS

"I'm in absolute awe of what you have built, as a space and a charity - it is incredibly inspiring"
